Dedication

BECAUSE OF HIS GENIALITY ON THE CAMPUS, HIS FRIENDLY DIGNITY IN THE CLASSROOM, AND HIS COOPERATIVE SPIRIT IN ALL CAMPUS ACTIVITIES, WE, THE STUDENTS OF MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE, DEEM IT A HIGH PRIVILEGE AND HONOR TO DEDICATE TO DR. CHARLES GEORGE GORDON MOSS THIS, THE BATTLEFIELD OF ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND FORTY.

INTRODUCTION

Remembering . . .

The little city where have walked the noble men and women of the past, leaving a heritage rare for us to emulate.

Remembering . . .

Those who have trekked along with us over academic trails with patience enduring, with interest unceasing, while we "muddled through at long last."

Remembering . . .

The comradeships by the score of classmates and collegemates in terms of friendships that have painted the loveliness of sentiment in colors that will not fade on canvases whose captions will be that of "Perfect Days."

Remembering . . .

Those events that made eventful our crowded year of thirty-nine and forty, at times so crowded the days seemed almost blocked as time marched on.

Remembering . . .

The past year with its rosemary and its rue gone beyond recall!

Holding . . .

The thousand-eyed present with miser-like grasp, that thousand-eyed present that we cannot hold . . . ah!

And then envisioning a future—in time to be also remembered—with much of aspiration, much of longing that will be kept locked in our hearts, and shall know no revealing on this typed page.

Ah! Memory Book . . . . just remembering!

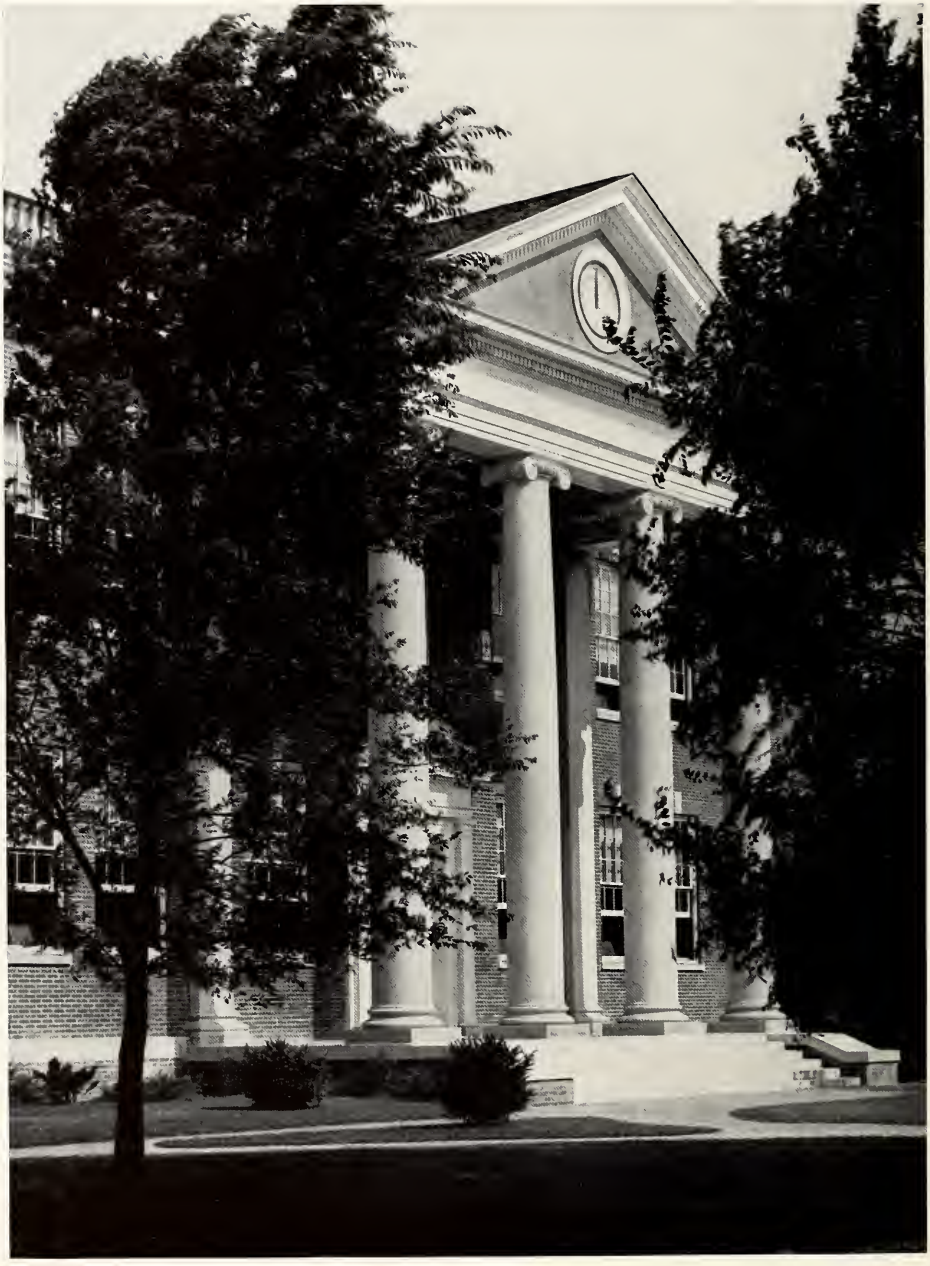
ATHLETIC SCRAPBOOK

ON SUNLIT HEIGHTS ABOVE A QUAINT AND LOVELY LITTLE HISTORIC CITY ABOUT WHICH THE GRACE OF BYGONE DAYS STILL LINGERS



In commemoration of a personality whose genial influence knows no lessening through intervening years.

If wishful thinking could magical be, it would bring back to this unpretentious hall the lovely Betty Lewis herself, of those old colonial days.

In Frances Willard we came and lived and learned—
The blissful turmoil that is college life.

Virginia Hall houses the lower classmen but keeps to the wide open door day and night without respect to classification, holding it a high privilege if all will but enter therein.

Alluring perspective.

Into Seacobeck they go morning, noon, and night twelve hundred strong.

Pillars old, old brick, twining ivy, tradition — Monroe is like that.

George Washington Hall is proud to possess so glorious a name.

Westmoreland lives into its formal interiors the beauty and the artistry of the old cabinetmakers' creations.

In honor of a noble woman—Mary Ball—whose lofty ideals will gradually pattern themselves into the life of the Mary Washington girl.

Westmoreland—a noble building named from a noble county.

A little garden serene in its hide-away on the Western Front.

"America's Most Historic City"— let the wiseacres argue as they will.

Arched grace in brick and stone.

Once upon a time Dolly Madison was much sought after and she still is much sought after.

Mary Custis also had her numerous admirers and still is admired nor needs to glance across at Dolly with any jealousy in her eyes.

INTRODUCING

THE ADMINISTRATION

STAFF AND FACULTY

A SLENDER-PANELED MURAL just above the entrance to the great auditorium plays its part in interest and sentiment . . . a mural so skillfully done by the artist as to make for a finely proportioned and a finely pictured effect that has a certain subtle charm and warmth . . . a mural combining the academic atmosphere with a perspective looking out and far towards pillared buildings silhouetted against the dignity of low-hanging clouds . . . a mural that, were it not inanimate, would feel the glance of approval from the eyes of the thousands who will look thereon, and through the years to come enjoy its beauty and its significance, and the promise that it holds.

A great official desk and seated thereat a great executive but no problem so small that it does not have the password to his friendly interest.

On the air, off the air, always a good word for the college.

DEAN OF COLLEGE

A good workman at his bench, convinced that the future must needs be even as the youth of today will choose to make it, works with sustained zeal while envisioning a program which must bring to pass a fair day when all shall covet the right to work; when all shall hold dear the privilege of being stewards with a task whose mission is to carry forward with quick and determined steps such standards of worth as will write themselves into a nobler drama in the living on a nobler stage of tomorrow.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

LEIGHTON STEVENS, President

THE name of this organization shall be "The Student Government Association of Mary Washington College" and that association shall function through a Student Council. . . .

The Council of 1940 has striven for several goals, all based on the belief that a fair and effective student government system is largely dependent upon the efforts of each student. This year with an added sense of responsibility this group feels there is a great need of projecting into the activity of Student Government a definition of campus citizenship which can be transformed into an obligation to be very generally assumed by all students—that of being a better Mary Washington College citizen. To wear this civic badge students must not only avail themselves of the power of the vote, but before casting their vote weigh the value of the candidate, impersonally, voting for the nominee who is herself a citizen of such fine standards of citizenship as to challenge others. Student Government on campus must make itself so recognized for its constructive program that the College will rely in large measure on the organization, and do so with confidence and pride. Such a status, however, can be brought to pass only if students will build a public opinion on the campus so strongly significant in its disapproval of transgressions on regulatory measures which pertain to the welfare of the student body that those transgressions will cease because of the very power of that public opinion. Such an attitude may seem too ideal, but any ideal is a thing to be striven for, though never attained.

HONOR — academic and personal. Since the time of the establishment of this association on the hill, it has been a foremost purpose of the Council, with the help of the student body, to uphold the traditional high standards of Mary Washington College. This includes the ever-present awareness that honor comes first.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSN.

THE Y.W.C.A. at Mary Washington College has a voluntary membership and each student has an opportunity to be either an active or an inactive member. "Y" work in spiritual and social activities is accomplished by committees under the guidance of chairman on Cabinet.

The Kid Party, an annual social gathering of big and little sisters, is a major event in "Y's" social calendar. This year "Y.W." has sponsored successfully a book club which makes it possible for girls in each dormitory to have access to many books they have always wanted to read as well as securing current publications.

The Association each year sends representatives to the annual Southern Conference at Blue Ridge, N.C., and to other student conferences held throughout the year.

"Y.W." attempts to bring about a spirit of good fellowship within the student body. It encourages a daily communion with God through Vespers, Devotionals, and Chapel programs, and through its functionings as a Christian organization.

Freshman Class History

High School Grads adopt new Alma Mater . . . M.W.C. enfolds bewildered daughters . . . Big sisters making shocks and fears cushioned. Seeing the sights . . . frightful step-steps down to Japanese coffee and doughnuts spread . . . songs "en masse" . . . Do we like it . . . uh huh! Roommates uncannily find out the ups and downs, the secret somethings and loves of their new she-comrades . . . Classes—ice sheet on nerves. Well, No. 1 wasn't so bad; "profs" are human after all—maybe . . . Study and hard work become pass-words . . . but, what's this? "Chilluns?" No. Freshmen as kiddies . . . What fun . . . And now we have a Papa, Mr. Darter. Poor Papa with all 600 us'ns . . . A Prexie and assistants wind us up ready to . . . Pop! goes the Freshman Commission Doll Show with coeds and Cinderellas, Models, Pickaninnies, Indians—My! we were good, at least Commission was good . . . We go to the Junior Barn . . . Farmers Jim Jones and John Doe capture our hearts. . . .

George Washington Hall swells with pride as all enter for glorious symphony . . . Lucky we to have it for all four years . . . Bids to German and Cotillion cause an avalanche of squeals . . . Rush rush, rush to the dances . . . Ha! We walk with the beauty. Ha, ha, two—we bag two parts in Berkeley Square.

Professor Kay Kiser helps us test I.Q. of Juniors at Hollywood Party . . . on with the sports . . . a "green" but willing Freshie turnout. Freaks, side-shows, take-a-chance. Spring Carnival "on the ball." . . .

Lightnin' goes the days, but not with all its thunderin' good times.

Freshman Commission Advisor

The Freshman Commission is a group of girls who represent the Freshman Class in all activities throughout the school year. It is a branch of the Y.W.C.A. and is guided by the Freshman Commission Advisor.

Candy has been sold in the Freshman dormitory for the convenience of the fellow-students, by the commissioners. Commission planned a devotionals, convocation, vesper, and "pop program" at various times during the year.

The annual Doll Show is one of the most important events which Commission handles. Members of the class help with the designing of the various scenes used in the shows. The dolls are sent as Christmas gifts to the children at the Blue Ridge Sanatorium at Charlottesville, Virginia, and to local charitable organizations in Fredericksburg.

It is the aim of this Freshman Commission to create a high standard of Christian living.

A Many-pointed Bayonet

Hints to Freshmen . . . Constitution of the Student Government Association . . . Honor System . . . Point System . . . Class Cuts . . . Dating Rules . . . Athletic Association . . . Young Women's Christian Association . . . Pop Programs . . . Church Directory . . . Devotionals . . . All of these terms have little meaning for the Freshman when she first leafs through the pages of The Bayonet. But, the most important point of this "many-pointed Bayonet" is to explain these—and many other terms, in detail, to each Freshman. It is from the perusing of this little book that the girls learn the rules, regulations, and something about the activities of the campus to which she has come.

THE CLASS OF 1942

Sophomore Highlights

Flash! Station MWC, Class of '42 division broadcasting direct from the Hilltop, bringing to you a brief resumé of colorful activities, rousing spirit of a career, emerging proudly from last year's state of frolicking infancy to this year's superior sophomorism.

To be different, we shall call ourselves the Board of Directors of the Sophomore Class as follows: Dr. Arthur Vogelback, sponsor; Virginia Henderson, president; Marie Seay, vice-president; Betty Simmons, secretary; and Ruth Seay, treasurer.

We are proud of our rise from little sisters to big sisters, proud of the spirit and loyalty exhibited in all of our undertakings. There is not one among our midst who will not remember with an exhilarated heart our class benefit, where we proclaimed the Ideal MWC Girl, our gay parties with our Senior Sisters, and our victorious Devil-Goat rally.

My Mary Washington

My Mary Washington, so stately and fair,
I adore you, and yet I do not dare
To give you all the love in my heart,
For soon, too soon, you and I must part.

I love your ancestral halls, and everywhere
I see your wonderful beauty, none can compare
With your Southern grace; the North is cold,
Formal, but here warmth and kindness unfold.

My Alma Mater, I love your country so dear,
Your people, your teachers, they have no peer;
You have a singular charm, a wide appeal,
To your classic beauty I humbly kneel.

You're like a sentinel standing high,
Guarding your Fredericksburg; you'll never die.
You'll treasure always this famous old town,
And cherish and worship their men of renown.

Often I stand in the twilight so clear
Pressed close to your pillars, all doubt and fear
Vanish, and gazing upward I see
God in His Heaven, watching you and me.

Sometimes when I stroll o'er this campus here
Dreaming along, great men appear,
George Washington, followed by General Lee,
And always they salute Mary Washington and me.

Yes, I love you, Mary Washington, I truly do,
I love what you stand for, your ideals so true;
And though we must part, and miles divide,
In thought and in spirit I'll be by your side.

Junior Class History

Gentle reader, ere you pass
Take a look at the Junior Class.
Below is a bit of what we've done
The wonderful Class of '41.

Way back when we had an election
These were the gals of our selection:
The president was a gal that made things go;
Her name was Ewing; we called her Jo.

Here's one vice-president we ain't fergittin',
She's all right—our Nancy Litton.
We all liked Wendy—she took the notes,
Wrote the minutes, and counted the votes.

For the Junior spendings, sprees, and frills
Marjorie Dudley paid the bills.
She wrote things down for us to glory in—
Lorraine Dove, the class historian.

On hand to keep us from drawing straws,
Rhea James; our expert on laws.
On the hill the man of the hour
We won, our sponsor, Dr. Bauer.

For the Freshmen-Junior Frolic
We made the gym a place bucolic,
Old songs, old dances, "Circle Right!"
Peanuts, cornstalks, "Barn Dance Tonight!"

The Red Hat—you all remember it,
The scene of the Junior Benefit;
The highest jinks in many a day,
The quiet old hill was really gay.

The Prom—a happy time, it's true
Yet some deeper meaning, too,
It bore: with solemn hearts we donned the Ring
A prelude to a future spring.

The Potter and The Clay

Yesterday—and the days rekindle now in their brightness—
You took into your capable hands
A pliant clay that was yet in the mass,
And with strokes that were painstaking and sure
You began to shape the whole.
We grew impatient at times and unruly,
For yesterday had its share of tears and failure,
But you knew, and quietly modelled on.

Yours was not one of blind alleys and guesswork,
Your Art drew from the store of an American heritage,
And your teacher was Life and the Master Craftsman.
You blamed us not for our mistakes and our trials,
But took human emotions, love, interests, and abilities,
And fitted their planes, and lights and shadows
Into a figure formed of strength and development,
And by so doing gave this group that thing called character.

Today we stand before you, proud, and full of love and courage.
You have given all, but will you take this torch from us?
Youth is still willing to fight for these ideals
That you have written indelibly upon our souls;
You have done the greater work, and though
It will be others' part to cast the mold,
We give our hands in faith with you and God.

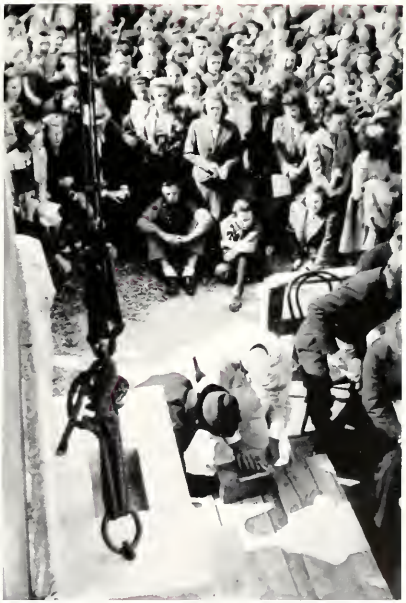
EVENTS THAT FOLLOWED IN QUICK SUCCESSION, LIKE A PASSING PAGEANT



Dignitaries lay the cornerstone.

"Make me a child again just for tonight."

Dulcy in person in a dinner number, and "mighty lak a rose."

Cider, hard cider, makes merry the heart even though goblins were about.

Leisure hours within their own intimate walls
where possession is nine points in the law.

December the ninth.

Pour preudre conge . . . Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, dear, dear Peanut!

Bill, Junior, said to Polly, Freshman,
"Will you be my pal?"
Polly, Freshman, then said to Bill,
"Indeed, indeed, I shall!"

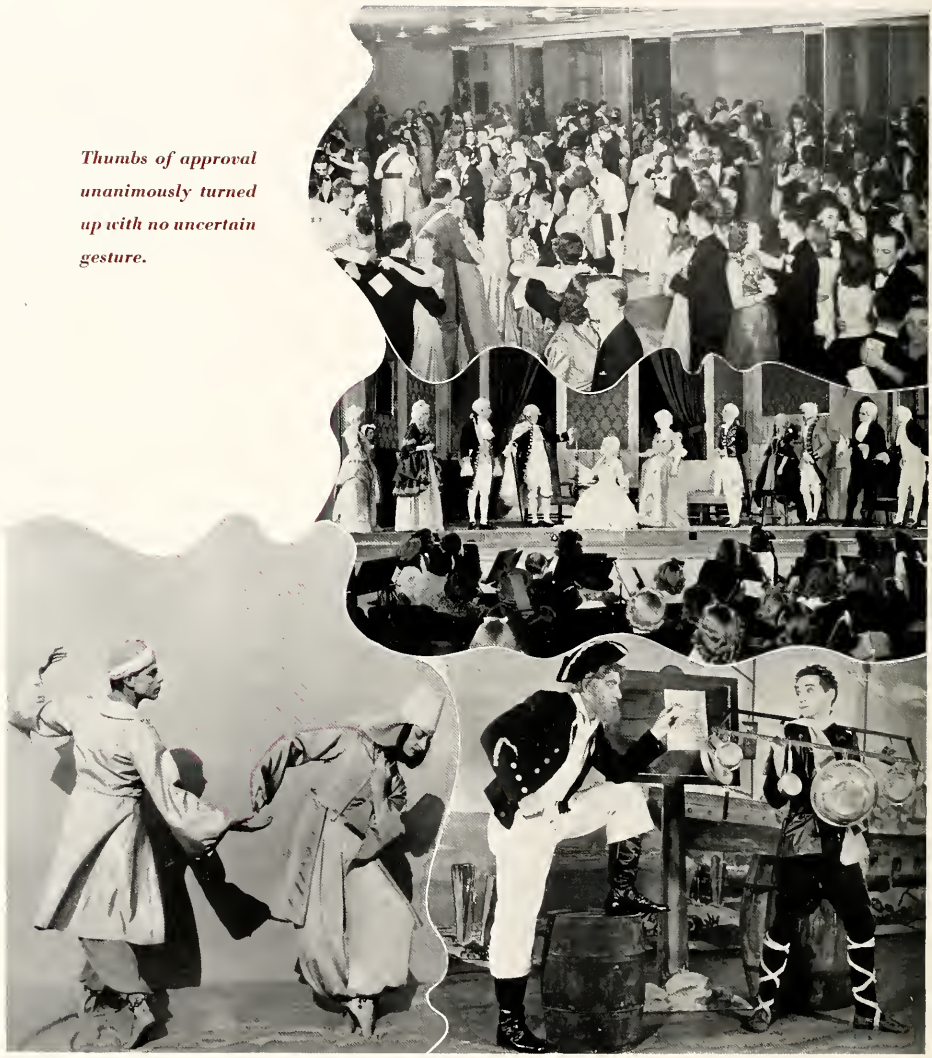
Weighed in the most exacting balances and measuring up to the most exacting criterion.

An ovation for him.

And an ovation for them.

Winter's Architect has no rival.

Thumbs of approval unanimously turned up with no uncertain gesture.



Oh, "Battlefield," we love you
Oh, "Battlefield," so dear;
If you think we don't love you,
What a foolish idea!

They help to make diplomas come true.

WHEN WE'RE NOT IN CLASS

SOMEONE has said that "Knowledge is power," and certainly there are numerous ways of acquiring knowledge: reading, plays, movies, radio, et cetera. In college, some people feel that if a student receives an education consisting of "readin', writin', and 'rithmetic," he has all the necessary knowledge. However, at Mary Washington, the activities, when we're not in class, play one of the most prominent parts in giving information to the student.

More and more the students are using their organizations as a means of improving their intellectual ability. This is done in various ways: speakers of international importance have found their way to the campus through organizations; the girls themselves have discussed important problems of varying natures; the unlimited, and often hidden, talents of the students have been discovered and displayed with the help of the clubs. It would be totally impossible to enumerate all of the benefits and pleasures that have been received by the College and individuals through the extra-curricular activities. So—we present in the following pages detailed information of all the groups on the hill.

The Bullet, the college's weekly newspaper, boasts membership in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, the Columbia Scholastic Association, and the Collegiate Digest.

On Monday afternoons the editorial staff meets and receives lessons in the technicalities of journalism. Later in the week assignments are given out and then the reporters are on the run with "noses for news." Thursday nights find a frantic little group of make-up artists in the conference room of Mary Ball Hall fitting in news and features. Early Friday morning the "dummy" is whisked down to the printers, and the finished product comes back that night to be distributed among the students.

The Staff hopes that each time the student will find in the columns a representative cross-section of college life from much-needed advertisement giving directions where she can spend her newly-arrived allowance to what entertainment the social calendar affords, or a resumé of additional plans for future greatness of Mary Washington College, or echoes from other collegiate surroundings, or a bit of humor here and a bit of sentiment there.

The Staff asks the indulgence of its readers in incorporating in this article its own hope for the future with reference to one particular phase that is so vital a phase for any newspaper, the power of splendidly written editorials, which are the most effective medium for rousing the opinion of a community in a program for betterment. The Staff of 1940 hopes for its successors just such use of its editorial space and much success for all of its efforts in the coming season.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

THE Leaders Club is an organization consisting of the leaders of departmental and social clubs, house presidents, editors of student publications, the presidents of classes and honorary societies.

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate the progress of the student body.

Diplomats of the Future

Realizing the importance of a knowledge of our country's international affairs, and feeling the need of a systematic study of the problems which are constantly confronting the American people, the International Relations Club is organized for the purpose of studying and discussing those national and international events which are daily transpiring within and without our national borders.

It is the intention of the club members to deal with all questions and topics in an impartial manner, always endeavoring to search out and appreciate the truth of each situation under investigation. The group's ambition is also to maintain a broad-mindedness and a fair judgment in discussing our national and international problems, and thus better fit ourselves, as college persons, to take an intelligent and effective part in forwarding the interests of its country.

Pi Sigma Kappa

Someone has said that "speech is a mirror of the soul: as a man speaks, so is he." Realizing the extent of truth incorporated in this quotation, Pi Sigma Kappa chose as its objective for the year the improving of public speaking activities "on the hill." To achieve this purpose such projects as round table discussion, the conducting of open discussion groups to which the entire student body was invited, the preservation of a chapel and a convocation program, the sponsoring of a verse choir, and the studying of elocution were successfully undertaken.

Although Pi Sigma Kappa is primarily an organization for the purpose of improving public speaking, reading, and debating, its members engage in many activities of a social nature. Throughout the year each of the monthly business meetings was followed by a program which was presented by outstanding personalities of the student body, faculty, and surrounding community.

This year, ten of the club members qualified for the honorary club key, which is awarded to those who have rendered distinct service within the club and in other college activities.

Alpha Tau Pi

The program of Alpha Tau Pi for 1939-40 was concerned with the social as well as the professional objectives of the society. Since only three members from last year remained and twelve new members were taken in, there was a splendid opportunity for getting acquainted with each other and with the club organization.

The supervisor of schools in Richmond and Westmoreland Counties, Mrs. Ruth Hooper, was the guest of the club at dinner and at the play "Berkeley Square," when she came to speak at the January meeting of the club.

The club also participated in one of the "Mary Washington College on the Air" Programs.

Two senior members of Alpha Tau Pi were among those listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Alpha Tau Pi has bought a radio-victrola for the club room which is greatly enjoyed by the members.

The society in its work and activities is representative of the elementary education interest and thinking on the campus.

Acting Their Parts

Although the former standards set for the Mary Washington Players have been high, this year the club more than adhered to these standards. The practice of admitting apprentices after successful try-outs or after special work behind the scenes of a play was continued. A role in one play or work with the technical staff entitled one to actual membership in the club.

The first play of the year, "Berkeley Square," is remembered for many things. Male roles were played by faculty members for the first time, and for the first time our new auditorium in George Washington Hall was used.

Differing radically in mood, setting, and story from "Berkeley Square" was "Sorority House," a three-act comedy by Mary Coyle Chase, which was presented as the spring play.

Alpha Psi Omega

The Eta Eta Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, young though it be, takes pride in its national rating, and in its activity for it has had commendation this year for excellent acting and stage presentation from a critic unbiased by personal friendships or preferences. However, Alpha Psi Omega must have more than mere dramatic significance—it must contribute to the composite whole—a stage whereon the girls who enter the college each autumn will in time make their exit as superior young women carrying a precious manuscript, invisible, of their own writing, their own interpretation; and the caption of the manuscript shall read, "An equipment of fine calibre with which to play my role in life."

Tau Kappa Sigma

The Town Girls' Club is no more. At a meeting of the old members early in the session, it was decided that in its place a sorority, Tau Kappa Sigma, should be formed for the town girls and college students living in Fredericksburg. At the same meeting, a new constitution was adopted, which stated the purpose of the sorority as being to "promote a spirit of cooperation and friendliness between the town girls and those girls living in the dormitory." The flower chosen was the golden chrysanthemum; the colors, gold and purple; the motto, "De elextram mesiro." Mrs. Tipton Mooney, associate professor of social science, was chosen sponsor.

Early in October, for one day, the initiates were compelled to attend classes as split personalities; each girl made a grotesque picture, having one half of her face made up à la theater, while the other half had no make-up at all; part of her hair rolled up on curlers, while the other part was down as far as possible. The wearing apparel was also mismatched. To close the day, a party was held in the club room, which was gaily decorated with pumpkins, goblins, haystacks—all of which contributed to an eerie atmosphere. The faculty guests were Mrs. Mooney and Mr. and Mrs. Darter. After the initiation, the girls enjoyed refreshments and dancing.

On the third Wednesday of each month the sorority meets in the club room in Chandler Hall. After a short business session and a program, luncheon is served.

Unlike other clubs, this one does not discontinue its activities during the summer months. Picnics and other forms of outdoor entertainment are held monthly. Thus, the purpose of creating pleasant relations between the group of college girls and town students continues the year 'round.

The Advanced Orchestra of Mary Washington College, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Faulkner, boasts a membership of fifty this year in contrast to membership of twelve three years ago. This group is open to students who have had previous orchestral experience.

The orchestra furnishes music for college plays, convocation, chapel, and assists the Choral Club and the Glee Club in their annual Christmas programs.

Gens Togata

The Athenaeum was organized November 13, 1939. The motto chosen was "Quaerit ad superos viam."—Seneca. The purpose of the club is to foster an active interest in the humanities with the realization that they must be cherished not only for their esthetic value, but as a basis for all culture.

The club, though small, is actively interested in stimulating an interest in classical studies, in building up the department of ancient languages by bringing to the students speakers, movies, pictures, and charts. There is the hope of putting on Greek plays or plays based on ancient themes.

The Athenaeum has the active support of the English, History, and Modern Languages Departments, and has incited considerable interest on the campus.

Both Quality and Quantity

The Glee Club of Mary Washington College is composed of seventy-five students chosen from the best musical talent on the hill. Members are chosen for ability, personality, and dependability.

Among the concerts given every year are a series of Sunday afternoon concerts, a candle-light program of Christmas carols, and a large Spring Musical program. Programs are also given for town events, various churches, and in near-by towns.

The Glee Club tries to improve the type of programs given each year, and to take a more active part in school activities.

In this organization there are the Mary Washington Double Sextette and the A Cappella Choir, which participate in the programs given.

Wisdom lifts her hands in gladness,
To light candles in the heart;
Wisdom kneels in all humility
To serve, as have the great;
Wisdom reaches into future paths,
To understand, that she may teach.

JUST so, the purpose of the Gamma Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, a national honorary scholarship fraternity, is to offer an opportunity for the closer companionship of those who cherish wisdom.

Personality in Rhythm is an excellent name for the Mary Washington Dance Orchestra. Thirteen personalities go to make up this group which is one of the most popular means of entertainment on the campus. It is rapidly rising to new heights in popularity with its own radio programs and social events, both on the hill and in the city of Fredericksburg.

The Freshman Party was the first social event on the campus at which the orchestra played this year. When the International Relations Club had its convention, the unusual arrangements of popular tunes by the group for the dance caused much comment from the delegates who attended. The various class benefits have all enjoyed the music of the orchestra.

In Fredericksburg, the orchestra has attained popularity, not only on the radio, but by making public appearances. At the Spring Style Show, the music was furnished by the orchestra.

Modern Portias

The Modern Portias, a literary club sponsored by the head of the English Department, is open to English majors and minors of junior and senior rank. Its purpose is to foster the study of English classical literature, to develop a keener appreciation for correctness in form and for true merit in the content of literature, and to contribute to the general cultural and social aspects of the life at the College. Annually the members of this organization give a Convocation program. This year it included the study of the flags, flowers and songs of the States taken from the book "American Nicknames," written by the sponsor of the club, Dr. George Earlie Shankle.

The annual formal banquet is a social event of the college year, and was held in the Gold Room of the Palm Grill.

Each spring the Modern Portias entertain the student body and faculty at a formal dance on the roof garden. A tea is given in Seacobeck Hall for the Women's Literary Club of Fredericksburg.

HONOR FOR THE PATHFINDER

September 26—Dear Diary: My second year at Mary Washington College is just beginning and I know I'm going to enjoy it even more this year for I am entitled to join the Matthew Fontaine Maury Science Club. The club's purpose is to arouse interest in the subject as a cultural field. Oh, I do hope I'll be accepted!

October 12—Today I was initiated into the science club. Carrying laundry was a burdensome task, but was required of every initiate. Tonight we had our formal initiation—with plenty to eat, of course, and a lot of fun. Oh, dear, I must quit and study chemistry.

October 17—Tonight we had our first science club meeting. Dr. Cook talked on "Modern Warfare"; later, we made our plans for the rest of the year. Dr. Paul Ritter is to show us scientific movies at the next meeting. Miss Schultz and Dr. Iltis are to be on the program during the year. We also decided to present the "Life of Matthew Fontaine Maury" at chapel.

February 20—Tonight we had our annual formal dinner downtown. Dr. Pierce, Dr. Alexander, and the new initiates provided the entertainment.

April 17—This evening we closed our year's activities of the science club at Convocation by presenting the "Life of Madame Curie."

PURE scholarship alone, untranslated into everyday life, is of little worth. Pi Omega Pi attempts to teach that its value lies only in the service it may render, and to instill in its members a desire to strive toward a high quality of service and ethical standards, both in college and in future professional work.

Activities in Alpha Epsilon Chapter this year, directed toward this ultimate aim, have included occasions of both business and social nature. Not the least of its activities was the sending of a delegate to the national convention, at Pittsburgh's Hotel William Penn, on December 27, 1939.

Lambda Kappa was originally known as the Camera Club, but its present name, which means "Lens Club," was adopted by the club in December, two months after the organization's founding.

At the monthly meetings, various phases of cameras, their accessories, and pictures are discussed. Many elements of photography have been explained; motion pictures of College Life have been shown; various members' own experiences in photography have been related; and interest and information have been contributed by various guest speakers.

Outstanding among Lambda Kappa's projects for the year has been the preparing of a motion picture in technicolor, depicting student life at Mary Washington. Having been combined with a scenario written by the Dramatic Art Department, this film is being used for publicity and student entertainment.

Athletic Scrapbook

Let the spirit of Play prevail, for only when one ceases to love to play does one grow old. Let the Game call forth spirited action which is salute royal to radiant health. Let there be happy laughter and joyous enthusiasm and a clanish loyalty, but one without the edge of friction. Let the tested moorings of good fellowship hold—gain or lose in the tourney! Love the feel of straining muscles in a contest with your opponent on the "field of honor," where a kingly Alchemist compounds character out of fine metals that will not tarnish in the using.

Membership in the Athletic Association is open to every Mary Washington College girl. The guides to the Athletic Association in its program were the A.A. Council and the Executive Board. Council consisted of four officers, the chairman of each sport, and two freshmen representatives; while the members of the Executive Board were the four officers, the general chairman, and a member selected from and by the Council.

This year, each striving toward their definite constructive goals, were four new member clubs, the Terrapins (swimming), Hoof Prints (riding), Fencing, and Modern Dance. These clubs were presided over by the chairmen of the specific activities.

Special sports, such as Badminton, Bowling, and Ping-pong came into vogue this year with more real interest shown than has heretofore been exhibited.

In the fall, competition began for the Devil-Goat Cup as Hockey took its role in the activities of the year. Volley Ball tournaments gave an added enjoyment to both students and faculty; the Kirby Kangaroos and the Peirce Pole Cats will never be forgotten. Golf and Tennis tournaments were held in the fall and spring. The quietude of the cabin on the hill remains pleasant for outdoor lovers of the college. The Round Robin

Basketball tournament concluded with the sophomores defeating the seniors.

No student can ever forget the accomplishments of the Athletic Association this year, and it should be the goal of future associations to aspire to surpass our achievements.

At seven o'clock each Friday, we Terrapins gathered for the purpose of developing and increasing appreciation of aquatics. The activities which we engaged in during the year were many and varied. During the Fall, via try-outs, we gathered in the select swimmers, and, after a delightful Pop Program, we rallied to a Hallowe'en Party. Later, we again put aside our bathing caps and enjoyed good fellowship on a combination hayride-weiner roast.

With the New Year, we set off in earnest to attempt to win the Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet, and followed this with exciting Devil-Goat and Interclass swimming meets. As an interesting sidelight, we sponsored a life-saving and instructors' course. Not the least of our activities was a water spectacle which was presented at the end of the year, with the help of our literary, dramatic, and aquatic stars.

On land or sea,
No fairer band can there be.
The Terrapins exploit their name
In adding laurels to their fame.

PREFERRED WEAPONS

THE Fencing Club, which was organized during the winter of 1938, has rapidly and unanimously become one of the most interesting and active athletic clubs at Mary Washington College. In the winter quarter, the club meets twice a week. During these meetings, the members engage in actual combat, thereby increasing their skill and enjoying the thrill of physical competition.

Because it develops poise, grace, and active physical and mental coordination, Fencing is fast becoming one of our most popular sports.

COMPLETE ABANDONMENT

YOUTH

Oh, Fleeting Youth, whose novice stumbling steps
Are lighted just by Joy's eternal fire,
Whose voice is but a whisper of the heart,
Which answers strong Ambition and Desire.

Rejoice that thou art clothed in Freedom's cloak,
And not the dull, drab garb of harassed Age—
Use well each precious hour, and put aside
The eagerness to write on Future's page.

Seek on in all thy visioned realms of Love,
And leave thy petty doubts and cares behind,
For in this land thy greatest treasure lies—
All things are there—the task is but to find.

Hoof prints, lingering on the trails of Battlefield Park, are fresh reminders of many good times, of the thrills and spills that come with a brisk canter and a dash over the hurdles. More than just for the recreational side, the club this year has endeavored to develop among the girls a better sportsmanship, closer comradeship, and wider knowledge of equitation by informal hours spent together on picnics, hayrides, and other social gatherings.

Dear Jean:

On my way to Washington--stopped in to see you--found you out. So sorry but jolly well glad I found the Battlefield in! I raced through it to find the section dear to my heart--the Athletic section--and praise Allah, if it isn't positively glorious. I found myself in spirit crawling through the water with Ann, leaping for the old goal with Jane, shooting an arrow into the air with L.W.K., and high serving a ball just over the net to that Stunner whom I do not know. I could not register a thrill when I came to the fencers, simply because I did not take that sport, but they look like the last word in form. And Kay, the Golf Girl, gone glamourous. The hockey players got so close to me by the pictured page that I felt my own shins ache. . . . No more now, Darling, but do give my love to the entire Athletic Association and tell them I am prouder than any peacock of the splendid things they are accomplishing. Love to you,

Alice

"EX-PROFUNDIS"—to keep to the classical translation of the immortal Virgil, from out the depths; in the vernacular of the campus, from out the boiler room. For that is the room, small though it is, in which, after much drawing of layouts, numbering and arranging of plates and pictures, approving of art work, pressing into service all the available literary ability, and the organizing and executing of many other details, THE BATTLEFIELD is composed.

We of the staff had but one objective—to give to you a few pictures, a few written words, in a book—which will help keep alive the memories of a year which passed all too quickly . . . If this BATTLEFIELD is a true "Memory Book," then, we feel that our work is well done.

In the South, It's Southern Dairies Ice Cream

You have heard on the radio . . . read in magazines . . . about the Sealtest System of Laboratory Protection. How its constant aim is to improve the quality and safeguard the purity of ice cream and other dairy products.

This great Dairy Laboratory System supervises every step in the manufacture of SOUTHERN DAIRIES ICE CREAM and in its delicious flavor and delicate texture you actually taste what this means to you.

Southern Dairies Ice Cream is manufactured and distributed in 1,000 cities and towns located in 13 Southern States. It is "The South's Largest Selling Ice Cream." Southern Dairies, plus Sealtest, equals the finest ice cream that money can buy . . .
